In business for 32 years, The Door Company has an outstanding record of providing quality garage door installation and service to residential and commercial markets. Its excellent reputation is evident in the Better Business Bureau's highest rating of A+ and its membership in the Greater Ottawa Home Builders Association as well as the International Door Association. "People can count on us — no matter what the challenge," says company president Greg Bell.

A wealth of know-how is just one of the many factors in this company's success. A dedicated team of more than 35 employees and installers boasts over 150 years of combined door industry experience. "Years of experience offer our customers a great deal of knowledge and expertise," Greg adds. "There isn't much we haven't seen before."

Specializing in residential and commercial garage doors for builders and homeowners, The Door Company is the largest volume provider in the region and passes savings on to customers providing guaranteed competitive pricing.

The company serves all of Eastern Ontario with offices in Ottawa, Stirling and the Durham region. In addition, its knowledgeable design staff members will visit you at your office or home with sample styles and colour chips. "We offer advice in product and price selection to best match your budget, performance needs and home architecture. Our field staff members provide guidance and pre-site checks to ensure proper framing."

The service doesn't end there: There's always a live voice on the phone when you call, providing customers with full confidence The Door Company will support them for years to come. After all, its reputation has been built over three decades, growing each year as a result of customer faith in its products and service excellence.

Products also set this business apart. There are over 1,000 doors in stock and hundreds of custom order choices. The selection is second to none, with a wide variety of styles, colours, window and insulation R-value options. Products are of the highest quality, with lifetime warranty to ensure long-term value. Additionally, the company offers service and maintenance for all garage doors. In fact, satisfaction is guaranteed on any product purchase and The Door Company is committed to exceeding expectations with quality workmanship, service and installation.

"We are professionals and pride ourselves in doing what's right," Greg Bell explains. "Don't just take our word for it, ask around. See our testimonials. We have thousands of new and repeat customers each year who trust their overhead doors to be installed and serviced with consistency and support behind them."

These are just some of the reasons why The Door Company continues to succeed and grow.
